“From a faith perspective, I have learned that those who suffer
the most deserve
the greatest hearing,
even though,
ironically,
their voices are often the last to be heard, if at all”

JUSTICE for IMMIGRANTS:

The Theology of Migration and Framing the Message

September 30, 2011
or October 1, 2011

Justice for Immigrants: The Theology of Migration and Framing the Message

KEYNOTE SPEAKER:

Reverend Daniel
Groody,
C.S.C.

Fr. Groody, an associate professor of theology at the University of Notre Dame, has written on migration, globalization and theology. He is also the producer of documentary films including “One Border, One Body: Immigration and the Eucharist,” and “Dying to Live: A Migrant’s Journey.”

“When we look at the experience of migrants today,” he said recently, “we see that they are hungry in their homeland, thirsty when they cross the desert, naked after having been robbed even of their clothing, imprisoned in detention centers, sick in hospitals, and then, if they make it across, treated as strangers. I think one of the most powerful ways we can be Catholic is to be hospitable to those who are most vulnerable.”
